Concept Note

According to Article 112 of the Indian Constitution, the Union Budget of a year, also referred to as Annual Financial Statement, is a statement of the estimated receipts and expenditure of the government for that particular year. The world has recognized India as a bright star, our growth for current year is estimated at 7.0 percent, this is the highest among all major economies, in spite of massive global slowdown caused by pandemic and the war. The future of Indian economy in these hard times depends on the fiscal consolidation amid the weaker external economic environment. This seminar will try to understand the issues and challenges faced by Indian economy, as the central government has already presented budget on Feb, 1, 2023.

The proposed 33 percent increase in capital expenditure was accepted by media and policy makers with flowers. The present paper examines the viability of improvement in capital expenditure and its impact on the economic growth of the India. The past two years' budget has also been analysed. The paper found that the improvement in capital expenditure depends on the expenditure cuts from the MGNREGA, and food security schemes operated by the government. The expenditure on MGNREGA and food security may be increased if the economic conditions. This compromises the potential of increase in capital expenditure.

Arshi

Research Scholar, Department of Economic

CCSU Meerut

Indian finance ministers' last five budgets have shown a commitment to transparency over the time. The present paper analysed the capital expenditure and fiscal consolidation approach adopted union budget 2023-24. The paper found a clear strategy of union budget 2023-24 combining high capital expenditure-led growth with fiscal consolidation. In the post pandemic these strategic priorities have been pursued at the cost of weakening the two key pillars of India's social safety net—food subsidy and the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act income support. This compromise the viability of capital expenditure to be made.

Balancing Growth and Stability in Union Budget 2023-24

Raviraj Singh

Assistant Professor

Kisan P. G. College Simbhaoli, Hapur

The latest Union Budget 2023–24 has made an attempt to strike a balance between accelerating growth and achieving fiscal consolidation. The increase in capital expenditure is important for Keynesian crowd in private investment. The allocation to Food Corporation of India (FCI) and Baharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) has limited possibility of results. The fiscal deficit is likely to be contained. The front loading of it's adjustment in the union budget 2023-24 have eased the problem of achieving the target of 4.5 percent of GDP by 2025-26. This budgeted reduction predicted on the assumption of significant compression in doles and transfers. The final implementation depends on how the promises have to be implemented.

Defence Expenditure Under Union Budget 2023-24

Rahul Kumar

Head, Department of Defence Studies

SSV PG College Hapur

The recent budget 2023-24 presented in Indian Parliament by the Finance Minister of India. The allocation to budgets attracted media attention in the name of how to increase self-dependence for reduce import dependence. The present paper analyse the possibility of reduced importance dependence and its impact on defence strategic preparedness of Indian armed forces. The paper found that the India is dependent for weapon and associated maintenance on them from the Russia. The Russian friendship with China has increased tensions of Indian defence strategists. In case of conflict with the larger northern neighbour, the dependence on imports may compromise our ability to resist aggression. The proposed dress and non-weapons procurement from domestic producers may certainly reduce the import dependence but the ancillary import dependence shall compromise the strategic preparedness.

The present paper analysed the performance of global economic slowdown resulting from the Ukraine conflict and continued effects of the pandemic, the Indian economy has been recognised as a 'Bright Star' by the world with an estimated growth rate of 7% in the current year - notably the highest among the major world economies. Budget 2023 lays the foundation for the Prime Minister's vision of India@100 by adopting seven priorities, namely, Inclusive Development, Reaching the Last Mile, Infrastructure and Investment, Unleashing the Potential, Green Growth, Youth Power and Financial Sector. The focus continues to be on increasing the capital investment outlay to enhance growth potential and job creation. Several policy reforms have been introduced relating to the overall economic sustainability, agricultural automation, integrated digitisation (including focus on AI excellence and simplification of the KYC process), start-up ecosystem and certain priority sectors such as Green Growth. Certain steps such as review by an expert committee of the harmonised list of infrastructure sub-sectors, setting up of a single window registration system for GIFT IFSC and permitting IFSC Banking Units of foreign banks to provide acquisition financing should further encourage foreign investment participation.

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman listed seven key priorities in Union Budget 2023-24 and said they complement each other and act as the Saptarishi guiding the government through the Amrit Kaal. These include inclusive development, reaching the last mile, infrastructure and investment, unleashing the potential, green growth, youth power, and financial sector. The government's policy of Sabka Sath Sabka Vikas has helped many sections including women, SCs, STs, OBCs and other underprivileged sections. The paper found that these measures are good in the direction of achieving the objective of Amrit Kaal. But the objectives of Amrit Kaal required huge investment in socio-economic infrastructure of the country.

Comments on Union budget 2023-24

Anmol

Research Scholar

Department of Economics, CCSU Meerut

Hon'ble Finance Minister of India introduced Finance Budget 2023, before the elected house of members in the parliament. The Budget is aimed at providing foundation for India@100. The proposed tax changes in the budget have been kept minimalistic and impetus is more on growth and inclusiveness of masses. On the direct tax part, the proposals are aimed at maintaining continuity and stability of taxation along with further simplification and rationalisation of various provisions to reduce the compliance burden. Similarly, on indirect taxes, it's a mix of increase or decrease in customs duty rate with some legislative changes alongside. With this background, we hope that you will find our synopsis of the Finance Budget proposal useful and insightful.

Chirag

Research Scholar

Department of Economics, CCSU Meerut

School closure during the Covid-19 had impacted millions of students across the education level. A sizable population of students were forced to drop out of school under the impact of COVID-19, a huge learning loss has already taken place, as evident from National Achievement Survey 2021 and the quality of education has deteriorated across levels of education. These have significant implications for how the education system is strengthened to support NEP 2020 goals. The present paper tries to analyse the education expenditure in Union Budget 2023-24 under the cloud of post COVID-19 effects on the education in country. The paper found that the expenditure on education remain insufficient in comparison as recommended in New Education (NEP) policy.

Department of Economics, IN (PG) College, Meerut is doing well in the field of academics. The faculty of department is well experienced and academically sound. A good number of academic activities are being conducted by the dept. besides the regular teaching to provide wider exposure to the students. There is a very good coordination among the faculty members that helps to provide a very conducive academic environment in the college.

The students of the department are also taking interest in the academic activities of the department. Today during the discussion on the Budget 2023-24 the students and the faculty of the department took part actively and asked very good questions on the Budget 2023-24.
